I found a few things which may be causing the issue.

For one, JAVA upload was enabled. This means that your computer or device needed JAVA in order to be able to upload the pictures. While this makes uploading easier for those who have JAVA capable browsers, it makes it impossible for those who don't.

I've disabled the JAVA upload feature to make it more compatible with all browsers.

Also there was a version discrepancy in the upload capability. I've fixed that. Please let me know if that takes care of the issue for you. It should now be more compatible with all browsers.
