No idea what this voice is saying

Posted by Kline33 - 03 Apr 2012 01:03

Hey guys, i'm new to the site, so bear with me....I have an EVP i'd like to share with you all, in hopes that someone can help me figure out what it's saying, if anything...I ask "Why don't you want to talk to us?" and then you hear a whisper/sentance in a mans voice, then I talked again.

A little background on the EVP, my paranormal group was investigating a family graveyard in the woods that they have reported activity at before, including a female child, an older woman, and an aggressive male. When the team was here before without me they saw shadows, and one our male investigators was pushed. Unfortunately we only got to investigate about 2 hours before we got rained out by a bad thunderstorm, even in the EVP, you can hear rain drops in the background. I believe this EVP to be the male, but even though I can't tell what he's saying, he doesn't sound to aggressive...any ideas out there?? Thanks guys!

its sooo quiet... If I could double volume analyze it , it would be far easier, but I cannot download them once they are posted.

Try this, it's a lot louder, hope it helps - I still can't make it out- i only amplified that part, so it starts out soft if you are using wavepad, it has a noise and hiss removal tool, it will help greatly

I am hearing either "I have been stressed" or "I like you in this dress". Not sure what either of those would mean though.
