Personal EVP

This was captured during an investigation of my house. A camera had just been set up in the kitchen and after lights out, I stated, "Smile and say cheese." The response was phenomenal! Please listen, and let me know what you think!

No need to apologize! I'm open to all suggestions! I'm just glad that we were able to catch this when we did. I'm hoping for another investigation because the activity is still going strong, even my company has begun to sense the presence and won't stay in the house very long.
