EVP a loud whisper and then unknown added sounds?

Posted by Keith - 30 Sep 2011 10:32

Hello everyone.

This is a segment of an investigation I went on back in July 2011. The EVP was only picked up by a digital recorder not able to hear with my ears at the time... There is two distinct parts. One is evident the other is very soft. Crank up the volume.

Please let me know what you hear.

Thanks

Keith

Thanks Isalndflower. I really have no idea what it is saying so hello and a knock is a place to start.

Np, not sure if that really is what it says, but that's what I could hear...glad to help or give input...I love EVP's for personal reasons...I will have to find mine and post. I got it shortly after 1st husband passed suddenly and it was recorded on my answering machine. My phone kept ringing and all I got on the other end was static...after the 2nd call like that I let the machine pick it up. BTW the caller ID showed unknown number. When I played the EVP back you could hear clear as anything "Tell Mary I'm ok and then love you.." It was pretty startling because we never said I love you to each other but love you, and especially when hubby was a skeptic and we always talked about who ever passed 1st would send proof to the other that there was an afterlife realm...okay enuff of that...lol just trying to explain my personal passion for EVP's that's all....take care! Post more when you can..
