EVP a loud whisper and then unknown added sounds?

Posted by Keith - 30 Sep 2011 10:32

---

Hello everyone.

This is a segment of an investigation I went on back in July 2011. The EVP was only picked up by a digital recorder not able to hear with my ears at the time... There is two distinct parts. One is evident the other is very soft. Crank up the volume.

Please let me know what you hear.

Thanks

Keith

==========

Re: EVP a loud whisper and then unknown added sounds?

Posted by wtblossom - 01 Oct 2011 01:43

---

I hear hello

==========

Re: EVP a loud whisper and then unknown added sounds?

Posted by Keith - 01 Oct 2011 17:30

---

osty,

I listened to this EVP and manipulated it in a dozen ways to get a clear sound to understand. I slowed it, sped it up, equalized it, reversed it but I still had no idea what it said. I wonder sometimes if it is just interference of some sort or perhaps more than one voice talking. I just can’t make some of the EVPs make sense I don't have a system to rate EVPs but if I did use your I tend to agree with it to be a 3 in the understanding it clearly.

Anyhow “It is what it is” and regardless of understanding it, it is there.  That alone says something. LOL

Keith

==========

Re: EVP a loud whisper and then unknown added sounds?

Posted by Keith - 01 Oct 2011 17:34

_____

wtblossom,

I wish I could here "hello" but it just sounds like static to my untrained ears.  But you aren't alone on the hearing of Hello .

Thanks for the post!

Keith

==========

Re: EVP a loud whisper and then unknown added sounds?

Posted by osty - 01 Oct 2011 17:36

_____

Oh I agree that it is there and it is very cool.  I just wanted to add information on my take of it before I commented.  I try to listen to the posted EVPs before I look at others comments. I have found that if someone says it says this, I will hear that.  Other than when I watch some of the TV shows and laugh when they say these little clicks say this.  But that is another story!

==========

Re: EVP a loud whisper and then unknown added sounds?

Posted by Keith - 01 Oct 2011 20:25

_____

Osty,

I enjoy the shows and there is a little poetic license used on the EVP's they play but it makes for a good show.  I do like all the different devices they come up with to measure this or that. I figure they have a better budget allowance than I do so they perform a great service in that area alone. lol

Objectivity is hard to find at times but some of the evidence they produce just by sheer numbers of investigations alone is pretty impressive.

I visited an insane asylum for a 8 till 4 am hunt not all that long ago and that time went by in a blink. The video evidence we produced was marginal but there were EVPs of unheard screams and easily understandable words said. I even had a few names mentioned that was traced back to patients there. Amazing night.

I keep an open mind and will try any means suggested to get answers to my questions. I have used divining rods for years to locate water, underground electric lines and even located a lost wedding band once by asking the rods for gold.

You are right we can be influenced by others and I look forward to that in most instances. After all we all search for answers to our questions.

Thanks for the reply and the tips/advice I appreciate it.

Keith

==========