Best EVP equipment?

Hey Everyone!

I have been using an "OLYMPUS Digital Voice Recorder WS-300M" for EVP work and I have one really great EVP with a loud voice yelling something. I want someone to ananlyze it but I'm not sure how to send the recording to someone.

What does everyone else use? Is there something better or is a recorder a recorder?

P.S. If you can tell me how to send this EVP I captured at "Vincent's Gap" please do ...you won't regret it.

Billy,

You can send me the EVP to

Or you can just upload it right here on the forum. And I can in turn pull it down and enhance it or clear it up. I use Audacity for the most part. But I also have a collection of other software since I own a small recording studio.

If you E-Mail it to me, then please include areas of interest in terms of seconds into the recording so I can pay special attention to those areas.

Thanks

CC~ definitely I will get it to you tomorrow and point out areas of interest...

there is background noise it's very distracting like techno music or something very I can't even describe it...I hope you can figure it out.

I am at the bottom of a canyon near a mine where Charles Vincent Daugherty laid claim...he speaks something clearly...I want your take but it's the strange and consistent background noise...it's haunting.

Sending tomorrow.
