First Investigation Photos

Posted by victoria_stone17 - 07 Jan 2012 00:32

---

hi this image is from my first invesigation about 2 weeks ago at a local cemetery that has been there since the 1800's. to me its looks like a girl peeking around the tree,i want to know what you think about it? please reply

sincerly

victoria

==========

Re: First Investigation Photos

Posted by toco - 07 Jan 2012 02:25

---

up right corner of photo behind dust or bug there is some structure,don't know if it is bush or tree,but i do see something there also.

==========

Re: First Investigation Photos

Posted by Sybillanne - 07 Jan 2012 03:14

Hi,

To me in the original pic it looks like a man, looking directly at the camera, half his face hidden by the tree...but it looks like dark hair, an ear, and maybe some facial hair, a beard and/or goatee...

==========

Re: First Investigation Photos

Posted by victoria_stone17 - 07 Jan 2012 03:20

---

really? i thought it looked like a girl lol

==========

Re: First Investigation Photos

Posted by HauntedSomerset - 07 Jan 2012 07:44

I think that it looks like a man as well because the hairline looks like it's receding. I can also see a face in the orb that is in front of the tree. It's difficult to tell if it is a face or the pattern of the bark on the tree.

==========

Re: First Investigation Photos

Posted by spookycute33 - 07 Jan 2012 08:04

I agree with Crystal on this one. The issue with on camera flash is that it is a very direct bright light on your subject. Depending on the camera you were using and the strength of the flash it could have quite an effect.

Another thing.. for me at least.. that tells me that the one by the tree is caused by on camera flash is that it is the same color, texture and opacity as the other orb like effects caused by the flash. If you look this is also pretty much the same temperature of light that is being reflected by the (hanging moss? not sure what that is the plant to the left side)

==========