Credible Photos Anyone?

Folks, I was thinking about this whole orb fascination as well as a couple of photos that we got on G & H that actually had some spirits in them; something that I think brings credibility to the image as well as education. These are not factors that orb photos bring [sorry orb fans to have to break the news to you].

With that said, if anyone has photos of spirits that you would like to share, please do so. We want to educate the public on the presence of spirits and their images will certainly do that.

Orb photos will do nothing more than bring discussions on opinions; something I'm not wanting to do on this particular thread.
