

may need help

Posted by sixsense - 29 Apr 2011 23:56

---

This is something I've been going through today. I feel very depressed, I have a really bad migraine. But the thing is, there not my feelings I know this. Someone is trying to communicate but can't get through.

How do I make this go away?

---

Re: may need help

Posted by undertaker1 - 30 Apr 2011 00:00

---

Not sure how you can get it to go away but i am always here to listen and help anytime. Day or night if you need me just send me a message. Get a white candle light it and sit alone with it. Burn it till you feel better. This will help cleanse you i had to yesterday and just remembered.

---

Re: may need help

Posted by everex5 - 30 Apr 2011 00:23

---

The world are skeptics. If you want to truly figure this out you have to remove the external factors that may be causing it. This takes time and patience. Then, if you feel something is still trying to connect with you then contact a professional who can help mediate you/it. Dont be surprised if it takes a long time to find anyone willing to really help.

---

Re: may need help

Posted by sixsense - 30 Apr 2011 00:31

---

The person is slowly coming through. He was a man about 35-40. He was very depressed, He decided to go hunting, see him in the woods with his gun and dogs, the dogs are running around like crazy... that's all i have right now.

---

Re: may need help

Posted by sixsense - 30 Apr 2011 00:51

---

OK, maybe this is for the skeptics..he shot himself in the head, suicide...now he's here, following me, watching me.

---

=====

Re: may need help

Posted by sixsense - 30 Apr 2011 00:52

---

guess I don't need help anymore...he came through

=====

Re: may need help

Posted by undertaker1 - 30 Apr 2011 00:56

---

Well glad he came through now hope your migraine goes away and you feel better.

=====

Re: may need help

Posted by sleepy1md - 30 Apr 2011 13:28

---

Do you get migraines on a regular basis? I have been having them all my adult life but lately they have been too random and frequent so I go outside (always when it happens) and I just say out loud "Go away" or "Stop it" and I close my eyes, breathe and relax. If that doesn't help I pop a couple of Excedrine...love of my life! lol

=====

Re: may need help

Posted by WednesdayJune - 30 Apr 2011 14:58

---

I have had migraines my whole life too! Recently I was told I am affected by the barometric(sp) pressures in the air when they go from low-high as can cause pretty bad ones. I was also told that I have a light sensitivity I like to tie a bandanna around my head kinda tight and that helps.

=====

Re: may need help

Posted by sunshinebella60 - 30 Apr 2011 15:51

---

Hi I suffered to the point I would have to stay in bed with lights & no noise face covered with a cold towel. Sometimes anything with caffeine will cause them. As well as chocolate, the ingredient in foods called MSG Monosodium Glutamate. I try to stay away from that. I hope this is helpful.

=====