_____

I've been thinking about the Amityville Horror as of late. I know the real story, and of course, there is the movie version. The real version there are no ghost, but in the movie there is. How many of believe that spirits can take you over and make you do things you would not normally do?

_____

I believe if one enters you that it can make you take on some of their qualities but not like the movies. The movies i believe is why people think this is all fake. But you and i know it isn't.

_____

I agree. I think when they take you over, you know what's going on, but all control is out of your hands.

_____

True. I have had couple experiences were an entity tried to entered. I yelled out, NO, Back off. That seemed to work. It is really scary though. I knew they were there and what they were trying to do. What if you don't know ahead of time..
