Sensetives

I am kind of doing an experiment for myself.

I am not testing anyone out there... I have had some recent things brought to my attention. I have no known history of this place, if you have further question not pertaining to the photos inbox me.

prior to stopping there and taking photos.

Comment if you get a sense or lack of sense of anything.

There may be some kind of presence there.

I think there is something there. I saw the tree branches and grass move and the water ripple a bit. That has never happened before. I am a bit un-nerved lol. But I think there may have been something that happened close by where you took the pictures. I sensed a sad but strong energy. I don't know if anything did. That is just my take anyways.

Something about a dog.

Loss of a dog.

Joey...

Red...

_____

I went back there today to take more photos, but the area was blocked (its at a sharp turn in the road, very very close to the road) as there was an accident there. I wonder if there are frequent accidents there, anywhoo.. I was hoping to get more photos, and speak to the people who live near it.
