It does happen sometimes. It also goes back to a question I have of interacting with past/future lives. If we are all in the same space but at different times, is it possible that we could appear as ghosts to them? Could they also be investigating what they consider to be a haunting that is only us in the present?

They asked him for help it was so strange I asked him how are you going to help? Norm said he don't open up for ghosts. I thought that was a little insensitive of him.
