I must say it's too little details for me to make out what is going on... you clearly have visions with the reason... I never encountered something exactly like that.... try to do some kind of selfhypnosis and try to rewind what you've seen slowly.... maybe it will take some time, but it could be helpfull

i feel threatened...but do not think it can do me much damage..although last night while bringing in the light, it is like a battle of wills..and while i was doing this, it poked me in the cheek....i am intouch with someone who is going through the same thing..a good medium put me intouch with her....i know this is something i have to deal with myself, seeing as know medium can get rid of it for me.i do still feel alone and scared..only at night time..i can deal with it in the day....but this is something i still do not understand, why it is happening to me, and why a good medium cannot get rid of it...so i have to go alone..i hope i can do it..but for how long, i do not know..
