So, other than myself who just got done watching the laatest Episode of Dr. Who on BBCA network? Once again the writers have outdone themselves in bringing into question real world topics in a way that compels honest thought while still maintaining the integrity of the show.

You may be wondering how this topic belongs on a system dedicated to paranormal studies. The reason is because in this episode entitled simply "Hide", the Who'vian realm breached the topic of Ghosts and Ghost Hunters.

For any of you who are not only Die hard who fans, but also paranormal enthusiasts I would highly recommend watching the show re-airing on Thursday. Keep an open mind, and watch it with a paranormal slant.
