Need help please...

I've had an entity attached to me and I'm regularly attacked by it. I have only seen it once, and my husband has also seen it only once. It has followed me for more than 12 years, the only time I wasn't attacked was when I was pregnant. Soon as my daughters were born it was back and stronger. Lately (past 9-10 months) things have gotten alot worse, the attacks are more frequent and much more intense. Usually I'm held down and feel as if it is trying to pull my spirit from my body. Where ever it touches me goes numb and at times my mouth and nose are covered and I can't breathe, it lets up right as I feel I'm losing consciousness then it starts over. This goes on 3 or 4 times before it leaves me alone for a day or two. I need to get rid of this entity, or whatever it is. But, I want to catch it on audio or video first, find out why it is attacking me. Is that weird? So basically I am here for help with this. Any advice would be appreciated. Thank you!

I've sent out some notes to some of our friends, don't really have anyone in your exact area. But I'll see if I get any replies.

Have you followed through on my suggestion and if so what response did you receive? If you have not, WHY????? I am beginning to doubt the veracity of your claims, especially since you insist nobody is willing to help you!

I'm sorry, but I really do not care if you believe me. You are not here having to live with this every day. You are not the one being told 'Sorry, but we can't help you' or being told to keep doing cleansings that are not working, when trying to get help in the area I live in. I know that I waited too long to reach out for help and I cannot change that, but I'm trying now and that is all that matters. I am not fake, I am not making this crap up, I would have nothing to gain from doing that. What I am going through is something I would not wish on anyone, believer or non-believer. I am doing all that I can right now, and am thankfully being put in contact with some one that I hope can get rid of this entity. I thank you for your past advice, and if you really believe that I am not being truthful, I cannot change how you feel and wouldn't try to.

Hey Emmy,

I've contacted one of the Mediums we work with here on G&H, and have asked her to get with you privately. Its a start, the first step to being able to help is to get a clear picture of what we're dealing with. And then we'll see if we can find someone to help remove or cross it once we find out what it is.

Keep the faith!
