weird stuff

Happy Monday once again -I have 2 things here I want to throw out at you good people this morning.. The first thing is while I spent the weekend at my moms my dreaming was really strange -I dreamt of my step father who passed away 2 months prior and in this dream it was like we were on a phone AGAIN and he said to me don't you think it is time for you to talk to me ... and the weird thing is he said this to my mom a few weeks prior to him passing away he said that to her about me .. and she just told me this this weekend.. so I am not sure what he wants from me now at this point -such as regrets? or to maybe say he is sorry for all the rotten things he has done to me at this point I really do not know , but he does come to me in my dreams quite a bit.. the second thing i wanted to talk about is that my aunt has this big fat fat bootsy and this cat one minute will be the house and the next outside sitting and noone has been letting him out and there is no holes anywhere for him to get out and this has been happening for a lil while now and she is just at her wits end because she can not find out what is happening here ..

For mother he would like to say he would like to repent for what he was like especially in the midst of things when that car crash happend, he didn't feel it was important but he thought it would might prove to be beneficial to speak to Esreal about having another one out there, somewhere at home his friend saw him do something with his head, like really serious pains, injury of some sort. Did he die of cancer? something on the lines of concusion maybe? Also Esreal says it is not because he wanted to, it is because he had to act like that, Frank ment well, he was just never ment to be there for your mother, and he felt foul for that cause he really wanted her to have the best. Three trees don't make a monument. And three cows have nothing to do with this bid. Anyway if anything Frank wants to say he is sorry.

Wendy had something in common with your mother, shared an interest, not about your father more of a transcendental feeling. She was close to both of them in a way and she left you something. A token of appreciation, for a little kid that made her time there more of an amusment. You can pick it up from the lawn. You got a lawn right? If it's still day check your lawn for anything that may be there out of place look under and over everything. The tree, check it, also the flowers, nice roses btw, red? classic colour. Anyway this is as far as I can tell. Also with Mike, keep him out of trouble, he is on it again. The little ... doesn't know what he is trying to put up against. Things can get messy.

Cut a few of the red roses and put them in a vase, put the vase on the table closer to the chair/seat taken by Frank. also check the ground near the roses. Ok so Esreal is an entity, he is kind of a guide for Frank in the moment and space he is in. car crash... there was one, 7 years ago or at least several. Ask your mom about it.

He was there for you mostly, your mother had someone else to tend for help. He regrets he couldn't stay firm with you and that he couldn't give you what you needed at the right time, he felt sorry for himself for not being capable. Mike needs you and Frank wants him to help him help you and himself.

It does and it doesn't... he was suppose to care for you but he misused it, he was to be there when you needed him and he wasn't, a total follow up, a failure. He failed at what he did best, keeping things tight together. He has outlived the purpose of his mission in this world. He had to go but he wanted to let you know something important, as much as he abused you both and used you he did want to be a good father and husband. He was dead on arival so to speak, pretty much, means he was predestined to fail in this task.

Yes keep safe from bad omens and watch out for red trees.... take a look at the window now, and see, you might not like this. Also remember about the roses. Nothing else than feelings of sorrow content and regret come from him anymore. He will be at peace very soon.
