Here is a pic I thought you might enjoy. This was taken on a deer cam right here in our area, as a matter of fact it was on the local news. I love how the deer is looking right at the child.....they reported the child as being Native American but others have said her dress doesn't appear NA....what do you think?

Yes, I like this photo very much. Thank you for sharing this. Did you capture this video on the deer cam?

Of course, every image should be tested for authenticity. But if this is real, this is a rare and awesome find.

Thanks again for sharing it!

Thats amazing. Do you have any first hand information on this? I would be very curious. It looks awesome, but I would wonder it almost looks like one of those little outdoor dolls they make.

Is there any history of that area being haunted? Have others investigated that area?

Some of our twitter friends indicated that the same image of a girl appeared in several other images. I'm hoping they can upload a few so we can compare. It may be a doctored image, but before I say either way I would like to see the other photos to compare.

the figure looks Native American, where do you live? Iroquois nation spread further than many people actually realize, she may be a member of that nation. That deer is certainly looking at something! Who knows what animals see that we often don't!!

That would suck if it was doctored. You'd think that if it made the local news, someone in the TV newsroom would have done their research before it aired.

I guess it comes down to two things; the truth or just getting people to watch to boost the evening ratings. I hope this pic is on the side of truth. I'm sure you'll be able to find out CC.

Steve I'm saying either way. Which is why I had asked that the individual with the similar image upload it. So we can all make our own determination. After all, this is such a subjective field that each person really needs to make their own determination on the evidence. And the best evidence is always first hand, rather than second hand. Which is why I urge everyone who upload, to please upload image which you have first hand access to.

Well said. I agree. While I'm hoping it is the real deal, I just as much would like to know if it's photoshopped as well.

Hey guys,

I'm Josh from Black Hart Films also @blackhartfilms on Twitter and I said this photo was a fake. If you have an Iphone or Android phone and search for a Ghost app you will find an app that lets you put "ghost" or images in pictures then fade them out so they look like you have caught a picture of a ghost. I had someone try to say their house was haunted and took this picture and because I know about the app it was easy to figure out they were just pranking us. I uploaded the picture they sent. Please don't be fooled by people. We all know how hard it is to find a legit picture of the unexplained. You can check out my group's site for some real material. Thanks and God Bless.
