Going to investigate alone!

_____

Tonight i have a emergency investigation to do for a mother and daughter. Due to lack of time and being mid week i have to go in tonight alone. The kicker is that there is a evil entity here and i have to fight this alone as well as investigate. I feel i am strong enough to do this alone but the other members are having a problem with me going alone. Under the circumstances i feel no other choice is available. I want to know what you all think about someone doing a investigation alone with or without the evil involved.
