Could use your intuitive impressions

Hi guys, I'm just putting these pics out there to see if there's anything anyone can pick up. This is the property across the street from me, which has a rather sad story attached to it which I will pass on later on. I have noticed this week something odd--even after five years of living across the street and peering upon this land every day, I have never noticed this clearing where clearly there was supposed to be a driveway. The stones of the stone wall even curve in to make what I would call a flower bed, which is also something I've never noticed. I understand it's winter and the underbrush is dead, but I still practically gasped this morning taking out my trash because this gap in the stone wall is directly across from the end of my driveway. If there had been a driveway there it would almost look like a continuation of my driveway. It seemed to be inviting me to walk up. So I snapped some pictures.

I know it's been a while since these were posted with how many replies there are.

I didn't read any of them.

What I sense is children peaking around the trees.

Thank you Blackmercedz and Kirlylab. BlackMercedz, not sure where the T comes in. Their last name started with an H. Not to say it doesn't fit somewhere, just not sure yet. Kirly, could be! Can't really substantiate. The only think I've found over there so far was an extremely old rusted beer or soda can lol. With the good weather on our way this week I'll have a little more time to dig around.

Steve, I do often find myself wondering what this land looked like pre-pilgrim times when Massachusetts was still Wampanoag territory. In the summer everything looks like Fern Gully around here. I often think the nature spirits are trying to take back over.

I would have to agree with that impression, although I haven't seen it in the spring... I wish I could actually visit this place, it would be much easier for me to get an in dept impression. Again, Jon is still clear for me, but I'm still getting the T. However, its showing me the word Torture... Idk now if this is from the Native American era or if Jon is telling me something about Torture. This word would make sense to me, since I do get the uneasy feeling about this place. More so than the inviting feeling. Do you happen to know what time of year this young man died? Perhaps the mixed impressions have to do with the time of year. If Nature Spirit seems to be taking over in spring when everything is green, than this would be the inviting impression. And perhaps Jon is more powerful in the fall and winter when everything is DYING... Sorry, I could do so much better if I could stand right in the middle of that stone circle. I hope this makes sense to u, I'm just typing as the visions are coming to me.

The torture element seems to refer to the hazing issue in high school sports which has finally come to light in recent years. I believe it may be the root causr of Jon's untimely death. This incident will be very well covered up to prevent prosecution of the guilty parties- teammates, coaches, boosters, etc. this is exceedingly dangerous territory and I would tread very lightly here, lest YOU face retaliation. that being said, I love a good mystery and this certainly fits. I'd be delighted to help if I can. Try to borrow a mwtal detector, I believe it will prove highly useful.

Yeah I don't plan on getting into it that deeply as far as me getting into trouble for something that happened over 20 years ago lol. Metal detector would be interesting.

This falls under the "crap happens," clause. You won't have a choice. If anything starts, and I believe it will-blame me.....I love taking on our many dysfunctinal systems and righting wrongs for the voiceless.

Last night, after opening myself up, and really focusing in a quiet place, I have to tell u, Jon has now opened up to me... The word Torture was repeated so many times, I cannot even count how many times. It was definitely Jon who was Tortured. I do believe amoonwolfe is on to something with the hazing. Although Jon has not shown me how he passed, or if the result of hazing was the actual cause of his untimely death. I do know he was a Tortured soul. Your drawing is very very accurate, that I can tell you. And as I said before, please be very careful with.this.

New to site and was drawn to this forum who knows why. 2nd picture draws my attention to what appears to be the end of the driveway just before the tree line. Some thing or some one in that area. Please use caution. I do get an uneasy feeling. It does seem quite inviting but possibly hazardous spiritually.
