orb and scratches

Posted by ghostman50 - 01 Mar 2012 20:25

_____

this pic was taken at montrose cematary while investagting a group of people stopped by and asked if they could take a pic with one of our investagtors if you look at the young man that has his hand up you will dee what im talking about if you zoom in it takes form of a face 2nd pic shows one of our investagators that got scratched.

==========

Re: orb and scratches

Posted by BillyJo - 01 Mar 2012 22:04

_____

I don't even have to zoom in to see the face...Nice.

Unexplained scratches scare the crap out of me. That's something I couldn't handle.

==========

Re: orb and scratches

Posted by ghostman50 - 01 Mar 2012 22:10

_____

thank you billy jo that really stood out when i saw it had to shake my head a few times lol as far as the scratches yes you have to have a strong will to deal with it when it happens not a plesent feeling this cematary is very active if you google montrose cematary from darlington south carliona it will tell you the history behind this place long story straight many years ago a seriel killer was loose he was killing young children and dumping there boodies in this cematary

==========

Re: orb and scratches

Posted by BillyJo - 01 Mar 2012 22:20

_____

I will do that! I took a picture of a fire one time that had a full face in the fire...I showed skeptics and they were believers.

So how many investigations do you go on?

==========

Re: orb and scratches
Posted by ghostman50 - 01 Mar 2012 22:28

_____

to date we have conducted 150 investagations homes schools cematarys hoospitals were going to start broadcasting live streams soon ill keep you informed on that hoping i can send our feeds here im going to look into that

==========

Re: orb and scratches
Posted by BillyJo - 01 Mar 2012 22:36

_____

Sweet! I will look for the live feed...can't wait. I loved the one BHPI put on...very professional guys and they advertise 'Gummi Worms'

Looked up the cemetary! WOW! I would love to photograph that place. Or just be on the location. Screaming children and large black figures are definitely interesting!

==========

Re: orb and scratches
Posted by Tresses Of Nephthys - 02 Mar 2012 01:14

_____

Yeesh! Lots of scratch pics on here lately. Be careful!

And the orb looks like an owl, lol.

==========

Re: orb and scratches
Posted by ghostman50 - 02 Mar 2012 01:43

_____

lol an owl well there are some in there as far as the scratches its a very active place . here is some info on this cematary

I can confirm that at this cemetery location, there is a small girls voice that did ask us as we were investigating if we could tell her mom if we were going to be nice, or something similar to that, but was definitely asking us to tell her mommy something. As to unconfirmed reports of a large black man that killed children in this cemetery in the 50's or 60's, there is a tree in the back of the cemetery that does give off electromagnetic readings every time you get near it, and when i spoke near it to the spirit that may or not have been there, I was scratched on the stomach, with three parallel scratches. This tree does give off electromagnetic readings no mater what time of the day or night. I can also confirm hearing a loud primal scream from a female, when there were no female investigators present during the investigation. Another interesting phenomenon is that in front of the main cemetery stone with the names on it, we attempted to take numerous photos, and found that in nearly seventy percent of the photos taken, the actual pictures came out absolutely black, as if nothing could be seen at all. The pictures were as if the camera flash could not penetrate the darkness, even though we could easily confirm the flash going off with our own eyes.

This cemetery has given electronic evidence of being a deeply haunted place, with EVP's containing children's voices, and the voices actually asking a question of the investigators. There is also electromagnetic evidence in several places, which can always be confirmed with K2 and Tri-Field meters. And most of all, there is photographic evidence of some kind of roaming, and, at times, fierce energy, as photos have revealed ectoplasm, and strange lights in the darkness where no lights were. Orbs were numerous, and multicolored, but since they are often doubted, I do not speak of them as evidence of the energy there.

All in all, the cemetery is a place that will give evidence of its haunted past every time one goes there with scentific meters and instruments.

==========

Re: orb and scratches
Posted by Tresses Of Nephthys - 02 Mar 2012 02:34

Was there a lynching at that tree by any chance? When I hear haunted tree, black man, 1950s/60s and the south, I can't help but to think KKK involvement or some similar sinister involvement.

==========

Re: orb and scratches
Posted by ghostman50 - 02 Mar 2012 03:15

Never had heard of anything like that it is a old civil war cematary but this being the south I woukdnt doubt that sonethung like that could have taken place what had happen at that time there was a seriel killer that was killing young children and dumping there bodies there it just happen to be the black man that was doing this if you google montrose cematary in darlington sc it will tell you the history

==========