O.K could you please give me an opinion on these pics that my daughter and her friend took two days ago.

I am completely freaked out and would like my mind putting at rest so your opinions would be greatly appreciated.

thanks Donna

Girl...don't freak out, not necessary and counterintuitive. It could simply be moisture in the air being reflected on by the flash. Even if you do have activity, it is best to approach it from a calm, collected and neutral manner. If you aren't being hurt by it, best to just leave it alone.

at first I thought they were kicking up dust but further looking at picture they are on an asphalt base so could this be paranormal ? Been my experience playgrounds schools and parks have a greater activity.

i agree with public places having a high level of activity - pics taken at fav library in new orleans showed an incredible amount of orbs ahh thanks, it was actually taken in Clitheroe Castle in the U.K which is notorious for haunting s and to be honest my daughter feels like they were having fun with her, she is really sensative to energy so i will take her word for it.

thanks anyway much appreciated donna

I'm very glad that you are supporting your daughter. Many children are not nearly as fortunate.

I think it helps because my mum is a psychic, i am really sensative to energy like my daughter the only difference is it freaks me out i try not to show this to my daughter because i want her to be able to be relaxed about it. I think websites like this help a great deal though because it makes it feel normal. Thanks

OK i did not feel anything bad by it, i feel that it is paranormal and my concerns are that my daughter attracts energies i have always known this but my fear is her safety. the first pic if you look closely you can actually see a face and i dont like that i just dont want any energies in general to attach to her. Do you understand my concerns?

Definitely nothing negative in the pictures. In the first picture, the thinner mist in the middle of the shot, is a spirit guide. I actually have a video and a picture of the same mist like forms, from an investigation I did at an OLD house right below our property. The orbs could possibility be moisture. Nothing to be concerned with in any of those pictures. I love that you support your daughter, she needs that!
