This is pareidolia. Just the mind making a familiar pattern out of randomness.

No it is not in this case. We caught an evp of a child at the time this photo was taken along with a personal experience(not mine). I had two professional photographers look at it and said there is a shadow there. One is a skeptic... explains the shadow away as Phillips shadow. You can see the shadow covers part of the tree and is transparent so it is not leaves. In the evp you hear the camera take the picture. I will post the evp later when I am home.
