Photo 1300
Posted by dinaholle - 18 Jul 2012 13:46

Discuss photo: Photo 1300

The photo (Photo ID: 1300) does not exist

==========

Re: Photo 1300
Posted by janroth - 30 Jul 2012 18:40

Not really sure what to make of it. To me it looks like the front of a flashlight reflecting off a mirrored table of sorts. The camera most likely was capturing the reflections and eluminations from the light source causing it to interpulate the exposure.

Just my thoughts... Cool effect though!

==========

Re: Photo 1300
Posted by DebKMPI - 30 Jul 2012 19:08

---

are these still taken in a dish of water or are they something we can identify?

==========

Re: Photo 1300
Posted by Extralien - 30 Jul 2012 19:26

---

it looks like it is upside down. If so, what is that in the corner? Is that a cup on a kitchen worktop or something similar..

The effect reminds me of a broken mirror. You can see radiating shatter lines that spread out and also seems to radiate from a single impact point just out of camera shot.

This might acutally be a cropped section of a bigger photo.

==========