Interesting you can see what looks like a person, but it almost looks disjoined.

They were taken on the Queen Mary Ship that is Docked in Long Island California..The pics were taken on B deck looking down the hall as if you were looking towards the rear of the ship. We had just came down the main stairs from A deck.

I will have to post a picture of the rear of the ship. I Can pinpoint the exact place that I had something touch my arm. It was a really light electrical tingling that brushed down my arm. It was Awesome
