Was this photo taken with a point and shoot digital camera? I'm just wondering, as orbs show up with these types of cameras due to the location of the flash directly over the camera.

In my humble opinion, orbs turn out to be nothing 9 times out of 10.

I myself would like to see more photos taken with the flash off camera. I do think your content is good however. With an off camera flash set up or a long exposure [requires a decent DSLR and a tripod], you may find yourself capturing more than you expect. Light up that great content man!

Just my 2 cents [due to our present economy, my 2 cents is currently worth about 1.29 cents].
