Discuss photo: Steps Of The Past

The photo (Photo ID: 609) does not exist

This photo was taken off of one of the walking paths in Colby/Alderman Park. This site was where the Alderman house once stood until it burned to the ground.

Before that, it is said that the founder's home [George Colby] stood there.

This was a blast from the past that we'll go back and photograph.

As always you tend to capture the crowded silence in the woods. Wow, another great image with wonderful tones. Can't wait until you publish one of your pictorial books.

You know that we'll be shooting side by side on some of those photo shoots that will be going in a book don't you?

Thanks CC for the encouragement.
