cat orbs

Posted by TressesOfNephthys - 19 Sep 2011 02:44

Well you know I don't normally subscribe to orb theory since they are so easily debunked. But these I've had for a while and they still intrigue me. These happen to be about a year old.

A little history:

Around this time, amongst many other things, I had been seeing a shadow cat in my house. To the point where I'd literally go to look twice, expecting one of my cats and see nothing there. It seemed to culminate after a few months when I woke up about 2am to the sound of cat scratching at my door. Expecting my husband's cat to be at the door (hubby wasn't home), I opened the door to shoo the cat, but none of the cats were there.

On the day of these pics, we came home from the town fair, where my daughter had gotten a unicorn painted on her face. After we got home she wanted to wash it off and have me paint her up like a cat. Jokingly, we pulled out one of the cat toys and started teasing her with it.

Pic 1, the orb is faint but there on the bottom right hand corner.

Pic 2, the orb is on the right, near the cat scratcher

==========