little girl ghost
Posted by Deedee2911 - 18 Oct 2011 18:34

Discuss photo: little girl ghost

The photo (Photo ID: 786) does not exist

==========

little girl ghost
Posted by LadyJ2011 - 18 Oct 2011 19:36

---

hmmm very interesting.

==========

Re: little girl ghost
Posted by crystalcross - 18 Oct 2011 20:39

This one I'm actually thinking is photo shopped. Several reasons:

#1 - Its in the context of a paranormal group photo.

#2 - Nobody is noticing anything.

#3 - There is absolutely no EXIF information in the image, meaning it was edited in something.

#4 - There is an artifact in the brightness around the image. I believe it to be the crop outline of the overlayed area. See here where I've zoomed in on that area, and brought the brightness values up so that it highlights the area of shading.

==========

Re: little girl ghost
Posted by Deedee2911 - 18 Oct 2011 20:47

_____

No not photo shopped and no one us taking any notice of it cos no one knew she was there cos nit everyone can see or sense a spirit

==========

Re: little girl ghost
Posted by Zombie_baby - 18 Oct 2011 21:22

_____

I've seen this image before a long time ago.. Its shopped.

==========

Re: little girl ghost
Posted by TressesOfNephthys - 18 Oct 2011 21:24

_____

Uh yeah I am going to have to agree with CC on this one. For slightly different reasons, because hellz if I know anything about the technical aspect of photography or photo editing.

Once again, we have a picture that is a group shot where there's a mysterious face sort of stuck into a little corner somewhere. Both faces are too small proportionate to if it had been a real person standing there. With the other one, it was clearly a portrait of someone stuck in there based on the way the face was skewed and now you have this child pic which if you compare the head to the other child in this picture, the ghost face would be like newborn size, plus to me, which is the obvious giveaway, the big ringed eyes which looks like some hollywood makeup effect.

==========