Nice catch OCPR!

There was no description, could you elaborate on this one a bit? Was a sensitive present, did they feel anything? Any other readings at the time?

This is clearly mist, but I like the way the mist puffs up into the sky and then there's that humanoid shaped dense patch. What as the temperature at the time this was taken?

Makes you wonder if there was a cold spot, and it caused the condensation that we see as mist.
