Not sure what I'm looking for here. I see the window, and the brightness coming from the sunlight outside. Any chance you can clue us in on what's here?

if you zoom in on the picture, you will clearly be able to see a man sitting on the ground. He is looking right at the window. I will be posting more picutres soon of this house. There were a lot of things going on in there. It is still vacant. There is tons of redidual and can feel it as soon as you walk into the house or walk the property.

I see what you're looking at. There was nobody inside the room sitting on a chair? It looks like a reflection from inside the house.
