Do you see what I see? I caught this image in my room after leaving my recorder running. Once I played it back I saw this (far right).

Ok. I hope you don't mind, but I put your pictures on my computer.

So in the original picture, we see the little guy, circled in green. I get nearly nothing from him, other than he might help you find stuff you loose.

It's the red guy that initially caught my attention. And he scares the hell out of me. I don't think he'll punch you in the face or anything, but I think he's angry and you may want to do something about him. Soon.

There is a sharpened image of him.

Hi kara I'm trying to see what you circled but its dark and I just can't quite make it out-just faces? large? I have marked what i was talking about in my pics below. i tried to brighten them up also. The first one is the guy i see very clearly (strange appearence) the second is what I see almost directly behind him-looks like a womans face and all the way down sort looks like legs.

I didn't see that one at all, but the one in the really dark spot I circled scared me. I was drawn to it immediately . I couldn't lighten the face myself. I gites I need to do done photoshop tutorials. I'm way more interested in EVP though.
