Not sure what I'm looking at but it looks like a hole in the wall that was covered up by a cup-like looking lid that has become un-adhered somehow? Not sure it looks like anything paranormal?

This was actually a picture of a light which was mentioned in a discussion last night in the "Chat" area. Tunagangsta was in an establishment in which the light turned off, including the light switch by itself. And he was the only one in the room.

Oh! I had to take another look at it after it was examined and I get it now (der...) Kinda creepy considering there's no bulb.
