All video editing (or lack there of) comments aside, this was my first recording with the 808 Keychain Camera #11 version after it was converted to Nightvision.

The process of converting to nightvision was not easy and is not recommended for beginners. But it can be done. The tools required are a small file, superglue, rubbing alchahol, a tiny phillips screwdriver, and a exacto or single sided razor blade.

Anyone wishing to attempt the procedure can contact me, but be prepared to lose a camera the first time you try it. So I would start by testing on a non-HD version of the camera.

Those are available for about $9 off of eBay.

Very cool CC. One day you will get me to be a full out tech geek and i will owe it all to you. Awsome how things can be converted to us for the paranormal tools.
