Ok, this is my final attempt at cleaning up the Ghostly Garage video from LisaR444.

You can hear the noise, I believe it to be the mechanism from an old style SuperVHS video recorder. Same with some of the snow you may see. But I'm still curious about the light and dark patches, and what appears behind the car. Very interesting, since old style VHS recorders are susceptible to EMF interference. Very thought provoking video. I'm not thinking its very useful as "Proof" because of the noise, but still makes you wonder what is in all that noise you can plainly see.

I don't understand about the VHS video, I recorded this on my FUJI FinePix S700 Digital camera, we don't own any other video cameras, we always just used my camera, sorry, I am just trying to understand!

I can not thank you enough for just looking at it, it's more than most would have done.....Thanks again Crystal!

Whatever it is, I love this video. For some reason it draws me into watching it. Perhaps its the area in which everything suddenly goes dark for a few moments as if something stepped in front of the camera. The color changes, although some of that could be just the lack of light and the camera focusing on something.

Since you were there when it was taken could you describe your first hand experience as it was being filmed?

Even in this one I can't see anything. That noise you guys are hearing is either the camera trying to focus on something and if you know what that noise is then the other noise is just a fly. You can hear the buzzing.

I do hear something that sound like an attempt possibly to communicate. She says "Bobby is it you? or is there somebody out there?" (about 12 sec) I hear a faint voice. Could be someone else in the distance but not sure. Can't majke out what is said. Other noise I hear is definitely an insect. Clicking could well be camera.
