IR Cam - Video 1 - 20:21 to 21:15

I know this video is long, but I wanted to make sure to upload the original. Please forgive the strange angle camera shots.

This is a keychain micro camera which has been converted for infrared. It was mounted (with double sided-tape) on top of a little micro-Maglight that had infrared LED's in it. A bit of a self-contained IR recording unit.

It was totally dark, so at times it was difficult to tell which way I was holding it. And since it doesn't have a monitor attached you can't see what you're pointing at. I'm going to modify it so that its head mounted. That way at least it will point at whatever my head points at.
