Now that's pretty cool. You can clearly see that the reflection of the light from the doorway gets blocked out for a moment. I'm assuming that you verified nobody was standing outside the doorway.

of course this is verified. there was just two of us in the basement at that time and at the end of the video you can see me go towards the spot where it happened. this video was caught after we heard footsteps and kept seeing shadows. the bissman really is haunted and i am still having bad dreams about this place.

Well I have to admit, this carries all the aspects of what I would expect in a video of real paranormal activity. Nice catch guys.
