Help With My Father...

Posted by gregsg - 28 Mar 2012 03:31

_____

I'm not sure how to approach this. On March 17th of this year, my seemingly healthy father suffered a major heart attack and passed away. Neither my brother nor I were able to get home in time to say goodbye. Is there anyone here who can help me? Either getting in contact with him or at least passing a message? I apologize if this is an inappropriate request or the wrong forum...

==========

Re: Help With My Father...

Posted by michaelannco - 28 Mar 2012 03:37

_____

i know the loss. I am a guest tomorrow on a call in show. if you have the time, you could call in. my friend does well contacting those from the other side,as well do i. i understand your loss, i am a survivor having a NDE with my heart. until then please know your dad can hear your words and songs. blessings.

==========

Re: Help With My Father...

Posted by kimmy_inny - 28 Mar 2012 03:49

_____

I also know your pain and have been searching for someone "real" to help me reach him since 1998.

==========

Re: Help With My Father...

Posted by mrs.reaper2278 - 28 Mar 2012 10:35

_____

I would look for a reputable medium in your area..... reputable being the key word. While this time seems very disheartening to you, your father knows how much you loved him. I wish you luck in your journey...I hope you find the answers that you seek

==========