Heard dissembodied voice

I heard the strangest thing in my house this afternoon. I heard what sounded like a man's voice whispering, and right after my dogs barked so I guess they heard it too. Sorry it happened too fast for me to record and I was home alone. Was still odd though haven't heard anything before in this house.

I was at the computer just reading email (no there were no pop-ups at the time) and I wasn't playing any music. Interesting thought, I thought maybe it was someone just passing through saying hello, but I just couldn't understand what he was saying. How weird your bread flew huh? My antenna for my stereo flew off my tv cabinet before, well slid backwards and went to the floor and still wondering what caused that one lol
