Possible EVP

I have an audio file from our last hunt 01/04/12 it is a little long (sorry) but right after I ask "Do you know what your baby was?" I thought I heard a faint woman's voice say girl then my sister in-laws camera started up. I asked before that "what were you going to call your baby?" and then my brother in-law took a picture, you can hear the shutter (err!) anyway if someone can listen to it and see if they hear anything that would be great! There is also a strange noise in the background that get more intense when we talk about what we heard happened.

If you can let me know the exact model number of the recorder, I'm thinking it may not be necessary to spend money on anything new. Most recorders have the ability, but are just set to maximize the record time by default, cause most people use them as dictation machines and quality doesn't matter.

It is a Memorex model: MB2059C

I wanted to get a new one because there are no USB ports or access for a memory card

Just after you asked thatn question, Do you any messages for anyone, I heard something go bum bum (sorry just trying to say it had two sylables lol) it sounded a bit to me like My mum...

It was like the start of a sentence.
