Readings and Chat Channel Time

Posted by crystalcross - 24 Jun 2011 01:30

First off, I want to thank everyone who's been showing up in our nightly chats to help connect individuals with passed family members or other sensitives. Its really a large part of the site, and its an invaluable service.

I'm noticing that as we rapidly grow, a larger number of professionals are interested in helping members out in chat. So perhaps now is the time to start discussion with individuals interested in giving readings in public chat.

Once we know how much interest there is in doing this, then we can discuss time slots so that we can make sure that anyone who needs help is helped.

So at this point I open this discussion up to anyone interested. As we know Undertaker and Sixsense already have been and continue to be on the forefront of chat readings and helping members out. Who else may be interested in doing this?

Awsome sleepy glad that there are many people to help. It is hard to help everyone but just need to ask. If we are unaware of what you need help with than we can't give advice or help you.

I have been trying to get some advise but I don't quite know how your site works, i am learning, but new right now.

First, I wanted to see if you or someone could do a reading on what I should be expecting shortly in life, and secondly I need help with:

I think I have a child (or soemthing acting like a child that has been following us for 12 yrs. It istarted with ,y 15 yr, I knew my condo was haunted with a child and an elder lady. Never said a word to to my oldest and he came do...wn from his rom saying there is a boy named baily and he wont leave.. Now my 4yr is saying the same thing. What do I do? And he is the same age as the oldest when he came to us? Please help or giive advice, my 4 yr is scared to sleep in his room. and a friemd with a lil n noy the same age said the same thing a couple of moths ago when they were house sittig..... Help please

We would be happy to help you. On the main page of the website there is tabs at the top of the page. Go to the chat tab and click. This will bring you to the nkrmal room graveyard chat. We chat all the time in there. But from 9-11 est time six and mmyself do readings in the reading room (another room in the chat page) there is a arrow at the top of graveyard chat click that it will bring down list of rooms just click the reading room. There we can help you better.

I can definetly do Thursday nights at 7 or 8 pm and in order to facilitate this properly I would need to have a one on one interaction with the person getting the reading. The cards I use is a one card reading and would need total concentration from the other person. I will walk them through it as we go. Thank you for allowing me to contribute to the site! i love it here!
