Supernatural short stories

Posted by Grupo Alpha - 25 Jul 2011 22:07

_____

http://2.bp.blogspot.com/_nQLtl-OJmc8/SUeQYtiiXdI/AAAAAAAAAXA/9JQop94B1P0/s200/129_82651.jpg

To say that the supernatural in literature is "all that surpasses human reason to enter the realm of the divine or diabolical ..." is an understatement. Perhaps the expression work on Occult manuals or other books of esoteric subjects, but we're talking about an art created by human beings, all more sensitive than all of us, because they have great insight to know the count what many have felt, feared or dreamed, but we do not have the ability to remove to paper ...

Each of the selected artists who appear here have experienced or intuited that tells us, because their descriptions, the ability to dissect the emotions of his characters, allow us to guess that the stories offer a load of reality so overwhelming that from the first line captures the heartbeat of the real thing, the threat that lurks in every doorway in the corner of a house in the courtyard of a school, on the tracks of a train ....

Geniuses such as Edgar Allan Poe, Becquer, Bram Stoker and Richard Middleton offer their stories in order to unsettle the reader. Some of these artists provide us with unpublished stories, which rubs even the Sci-Fi, medievalism satanic and even "cannibalism souls ".... In short, a daunting set of supernatural experiences, very few, that we are convinced, they will get read in one sitting ... You dare?

==========