Equipment Exchange
Posted by MidnightAngel - 22 Mar 2011 16:19

---

What about having an equipment exchange thread? I am sure there are some like me that want to update some of their equipment, but let's face it in this economy, it can be difficult to say the least to afford decent equipment at new prices. Members could post what they have for sale or those looking for a piece of equipment could look here first  before going to places like ebay and possibly paying an inflated price.

==========

Re: Equipment Exchange
Posted by crystalcross - 22 Mar 2011 18:03

---

Thank you for a wonderful idea Midnight Angel!

I will add a new category in the forums tonight, and also will start work on adding a simple auction capability to the site for trading equipment.

==========

Re: Equipment Exchange
Posted by Steve - 22 Mar 2011 18:12

---

I may be missing something here CC; I agree, the equipment 4 sale section is a great idea. I would also like to add my 2 cents. Could you also create a section where it lists among teams the equipment they use while doing their investigations?

I also frequent photography sites and many, if not most of them; field test a particular piece of equipment and write a review on it. They give the good, the bad, and the ugly in that review. Could you maybe make something like that happen so folks aren't wasting their money on a cheap piece of equipment when, for a few dollars more; they could have had something that worked?

Thanks in advance.

==========

Re: Equipment Exchange
Posted by crystalcross - 22 Mar 2011 18:19

---

Sounds like a good idea.  Let me think of how to best organize these.  Probably should all be under a major category called "Equipment".

==========