Clairvoyant: someone who has the power of clairvoyance. Clairvoyance comes from the French and Latin words Clair meaning CLEAR and Voyant and Voir meaning TO SEE.

So a clairvoyant is said to be able to see clearly. Silly really because we can all see clearly, if we have our normal vision in order that is. What is really meant by the term clairvoyant is the ability for a psychic to see what normally can't be seen, or to see the future or to see the spirits of people who have passed over. (By the way, in psychic circles passed-over / passed on, or just passed, is a less confronting way of saying someone is dead. It doesn't mean not not-chosen :-). In 'passed over to the other side' 'other side' means spirit realm.)

So from the term Clairvoyant we have Clairvoyant Reader. A person able to see spirit or see future and conduct a reading. A reading means a psychic will tell you (read to you) what he or she is seeing clearly beyond the natural range of the visual sense.

Continuing with the CLAIR prefix is . . .

Clairaudience is the psychic ability to hear things that are inaudible. Meaning a psychic hears beyond the natural sense of hearing. He or she may 'hear clearly', and perceive sounds or words from spirits, guides, or angels or simply hear into your future in some mystical way. () So if you want to practice crystal ball gazing start by reading my develop psychic ability tips here. Or Ask the Crystal Ball to Empower Your Wish.

(As you can see from this long list of psychic abilities and forms of prophecy a good psychic could take a reading from pretty much anything. So I guess Aussie Psychics are pretty cool!)
