A Case For The Afterlife

Posted by Steve - 21 May 2011 00:11

Hey All:

I thought I would post this link for everyone: www.victorzammit.com/week8/

This is a great site and my wife gets their afterlife report every week. I hope you enjoy the site as much as we do. Victor is a good man and his articles are inspiring. He's a man who must have the facts...my kind of guy.

==========

Re: A Case For The Afterlife

Posted by crystalcross - 21 May 2011 00:21

Seems like a great site, and a smart guy. Reminds me a bit of Dr. Richard Feynman, another physicist who spoke his mind like Steven Hawkins, but with a bit more grasp on possibilities and less rigidity. Dr Feynman was one of the original scientists involved in the Manhattan Experiment years ago.

I'm very much into the scientific method, but not as closed minded as Mr. Hawkins. So Victor is very much along my school of thought.

Nice find!

==========

Re: A Case For The Afterlife

Posted by Steve - 21 May 2011 00:27

How in the world did I get in the wrong forum? Duh.

He is very good CC. My wife stumbled upon his site after a journey of searching after we lost her mother to brain cancer in 2009. What I like about him is the fact that he does his homework before he posts things on his website.

==========

Re: A Case For The Afterlife

Posted by undertaker1 - 28 May 2011 14:15

_____

Steve thanks for posting this i will definately check it out.

==========