experiances

Posted by trcghost - 12 Jun 2011 12:31

There are to many to list just a few though one that really sticks with me is when I was younger was home alone for the night and the star wars life size piggy bank of darth vador kept gong off so I was like ok I'll just take the batteries out maybe the buttons stuck it still went off finally moved it out of the room could hear it all night when I was sleeping on the couch I felt I was being watched looked all over the house finally removed the curtain from huge window behind the couch and saw 2 little bats purched up on the window sil all night they stayed no matter what side of the couch I was on they moved between both sides let me know what you think

==========

Re: experiances

Posted by undertaker1 - 16 Jun 2011 12:40

I have had alot myself. Experiences from the age of 5. Some have been great and others absolutely terrifying.

==========

Re: experiances

Posted by trcghost - 16 Jun 2011 13:49

---

same here I'm living next to a grave yard too lol not as bad though as one house I lived in taped up windows for winter and the room filled with flys untapped windows they disapeared never understood that one lol that house was like a circus my car keys would disppear for months at a time luckly had spear one time I heard them dangling and drop ran downstairs to find out what was going on found them under hamper place I checked 100 times over wallet has disappeared showed up in places I've looked already it's been nuts just trying to figure things out I have had major surgeries been hospitilized many times due to rare gentic syndromes I've heard people who go through rough experiances younger can be sensitive if that's the case I'm proof lol

==========