So, its an intro thou wishest to has...

Posted by JMeadows - 11 Apr 2011 03:19

Well hello Everyone, my name in Anna, I hail from the most boring of cities on the Praries of Canada. Yep I'm from Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, home of nothing to interesting.

I've been interested in the unknown for a long time, and only recently thanks to Paranormal State and Ghost Hunters/GHI really explored this passion.

I love to sit and write in graveyards...honestly the most peaceful places on earth.

I also have the tendency to go searching for Paranormal Hotspots and just snooping around.

I work in the summer at the Marr Residence, a peice of history and home that is said to be haunted. Ill keep updating on that as things happen, or dont happen.

I also am gifted, er sensitive I believe you call it here. I see and hear things that others tend to miss. I also have the gifting of an Empath, I can walk into a location and pick up and filter peoples moods etc. It sucks some days.

There isnt really much more to say, I write, I sing, I dance, and I don't go out a party...Im tres boring. if you have any questions feel free to ask away.

P.S. I am a Christ-Follower and I tend to look at Paranormal Activity through the TAPS method. If in Doubt, throw it out, and try to debunk it before you jump to conclusions.

==========

Re: So, its an intro thou wishest to has...

Posted by crystalcross - 12 Apr 2011 00:19

I think you'll find that we have a fairly large community of sensitives on here.

Welcome on board!

==========