Newbie Here

Posted by SheilaE41 - 19 Dec 2011 18:15

Hi My name is Sheila. I have been experiencing paranormal activity since I was young. My most memorable was after moving into a home when I was about 11 years old. I was getting ready for bed and the garbage can in the kitchen was knocked over. My mother had insisted that it was our dog, however the dog was on my bed at the time. As time went on, my baby brother would be heard having a very adult conversation with someone when he was 3 years old. There was never anyone there with him that anyone could see. There were two different walls that we could not keep items hung on. They would fly across the room, yet never break. My mom had a medium come in and she told us that they were doorways and we were blocking them. Not sure if it was a deceased soldier or not but we could hear it walking guard, military turns and all. Now we seem to have a little boy who has been with us for the last 14 years. When we decided to move strange things were happening until we told him he could move with us...My daughter's room still gets messed up when we are gone. Toys spread all over when I know it was clean before leaving. There is also another presence in my new home....at first my animals were uneasy, growling and hissing....now they seem alright with it. My son comes upstairs every once in awhile to see who is walking around. He ususally thinks it is me then realizes that I am in bed sleeping. I just tell my children that these presences were here before us and are allowing us to be in their home and to respect them. I am hoping to get to communicate with them one da y.

==========