Methinks am I introducing myself to thee.
Posted by Paragal - 15 Apr 2011 00:40

Hi, I'm Paragal, which is a nickname I've gone by before on forums. I chose that nickname because of my interest in the paranormal. I've been interested in the subject since I was 12, when I got a couple of books, one on the subject and one on cryptozoological creatures like Bigfoot. I've had some experience with the paranormal in my own home, starting at the same age I got interested in the subject: 12. If anyone wants to know those experiences, just ask.

==========

Re: Methinks am I introducing myself to thee.
Posted by crystalcross - 15 Apr 2011 03:15

Thanks for the introduction! Would love to hear you tell your stores in the "Ghost Stories" forum. I always love to hear about other people's experiences. I think it tends to help the rest of us come out of the woodwork so to speak. When one person opens up and tells their story, others tend to follow suit.

Glad to have you on-board...

==========

Re: Methinks am I introducing myself to thee.
Posted by Paragal - 15 Apr 2011 13:50

Sure. Should I post my stories in this thread or on a different part of the forum?

==========

Re: Methinks am I introducing myself to thee.
Posted by crystalcross - 15 Apr 2011 13:54

Paragal wrote:

Sure. Should I post my stories in this thread or on a different part of the forum?

If you click on "New Thread" there is a category selection. You'll find one for True Ghost Stories.

I would put it there.

==========

Re: Methinks am I introducing myself to thee.

Posted by Paragal - 15 Apr 2011 13:56

_____

Will do. Thanks.

==========