Hello!

Posted by BillyJo - 26 Jan 2012 01:54

I just wanted to say hi and introduce myself.

I am Billy and I found y'all on twitter. I usually have one to four experiences per month that have a paranormal feel. I have lived in undeniably haunted houses and done EVP work at "Vincen't Gap" in the San Bernardino mountains. After that I hung up my paranormal gloves for a while because I had a very bad experience but I can never get away from flash visions that come true. I try very hard not to interact with the spirit world although it really wants to interact with me. I do have the gift of discernment. I can scan a room and know instantly who is good, who is bad, who will use you or hurt you. It's like an overwhelming feeling of trouble or a darkness that falls heavy on your chest.

I have had too many 'paranormal' experiences to list. So I will just leave it at that and answer anything y'all would like to know.

I am glad I found this place. I don't go running around telling people usually about this...so sometimes I can't talk for months...LOL

Feel free to add me on twitter!

==========